

TRISH DELLA VEDOVA

PRINCIPAL CONSULTANT

Trish Della Vedova has over 25 years experience as an executive, senior executive and recently, business owner. Commencing her career in the Federal Government, Trish has 30 years experience in HR, Search and Recruitment, and Media and Entertainment. She has 25 years professional sales background in the media, HR, Search and Recruitment sectors, recently specializing in the ICT consulting and professional services sector. She has consistently embraced change and her market acumen has resulted in the establishment of successful businesses and national projects – capability she is passionate about sharing with executives to achieve their goals through effective and empowering leadership. Trish specialises in:

- Resilience
- Creating Competitive Business Solutions
- Performance Management
- Career Management
- Networking

Trish's leadership skill was recognised by her appointment to the Canberra Festival Committee for two consecutive years at the age of 22. She was previously the Manager of an outdoor training property dedicated to executive leadership and team building and was responsible for engaging a number of teams from blue chip organisations to utilise outdoor training for their CEO and executives.

She is a founder and previous President of Women in Communication, an initiative to provide mentoring and coaching for women working in the ICT industry. Trish founded The Project Executive Forum in Canberra, aimed at providing networking, coaching and mentoring for executives – she subsequently implemented the forum on a national basis. She has worked as a telephone crisis counselor, and has significant experience in outplacement management, and career management.

Trish is a consummate networker – a skill she regularly utilises in assisting her clients. Trish has consistently been passionate about coaching, empowering and enabling clients to embrace change, and balance their life with humour. She aspires to quality conversations that result in confident, action and outcome oriented results.

Trish has qualifications in coaching, HR, and recruitment. Her goal is to share her knowledge, experience and her own journey with her clients. She lives in Canberra, leads an active life and enjoys a life balance some 30 years in the making – perhaps one of her greatest achievements!
